NATIONAL HANDLOOM DAY

Every year on August 7th, India commemorates National Handloom Day to honor the country's skilled handloom weavers. In both rural and semi-rural regions of India, the handloom industry holds immense importance as it not only provides livelihoods but also reflects the diverse and culturally rich history of our nation. This sector, where more than 70% of weavers and associated workers are women, plays a pivotal role in our society.

National Handloom Day, observed on August 7th, was established in 2015 by the Indian government to celebrate the Swadeshi Movement, which championed indigenous businesses, particularly handloom weavers. On August 7, 2015, Prime Minister Narendra Modi inaugurated the first National Handloom Day in Chennai, a day dedicated to paying tribute to the handloom community and recognizing their significant contribution to our country's socioeconomic progress.

In the context of this celebration, the school organized a fashion show featuring student models, showcasing the diverse fashions and cultures from various Indian states. Additionally, the students engaged in block printing as part of the event, further highlighting the artistry and craftsmanship associated with the handloom industry.

INDEPENDENCE DAY

On this day, India gained independence from British colonial rule after nearly 200 years. Freedom Day celebrations are held in India to mark this occasion. Every year on August 15, India observes Independence Day as a national holiday to commemorate the day in 1947 when the country gained its independence from the United Kingdom and the Indian Independence Act's provisions went into force, granting the Indian Constituent Assembly legislative authority.

Our school's principal, Madam Sonali Jagade, hoisted the tricolour flag in honour of our nation's sovereignty while we all sang the national anthem.

The school planned a presentation that was made on the school grounds by D.P.P. students and kids in the first through fourth grades. To celebrate India's independence, fashion shows, concerts, and dances were presented. The Independence Day reminds every Indian of the beginning of a new era, the start of a new life free from bondage and slavery. It is for the same reason that Independence Day is given so much importance and celebrated in a very grand manner across the country. The 15th of August, 1947 marked the end of British colonialism and the dawn of the democratic republic.

RUBIK'S CUBE ART

The majority of Rubik's Cube art consists of arranging many cubes in a 2D arrangement to produce portraits and landscapes. Each individual cube must be placed so that the specific coloured squares are aligned before hundreds of cubes are assembled to create the artwork. . You have to arrange each individual cube to align the particular coloured squares so hundreds of cubes come together to form the artwork.

If someone draws a portrait, it might look better and be more accurate than a Rubik's Cube mosaic, but because it's hard to solve even a single cube, let alone hundreds to make an artwork, it stands out and looks cooler.
